DISTINCTIVE DAHLIAS OF MERIT

H. C. BROSE
WOODBURY HEIGHTS
NEW JERSEY

In issuing this catalogue, we feel confident that it contains as fine a collection of dahlias as can be found in the world. Our aim is to include only the best varieties, and any that do not possess the requisite qualities to make them desirable are discarded.

Prices quoted are for divided field grown roots, pot roots or green plants. Either kind will give satisfaction, and many experienced growers prefer green plants.

Order early, as choice varieties may be limited and cheaper varieties are in great demand, and, besides, all orders are filled in strict rotation.

We do not substitute unless requested to do so in the order, but would suggest naming a few varieties as second choice.

All sales and quotations are made on a strictly cash basis, regardless of the responsibility of the customers.

Ten per cent discount where twelve or more dahlias are ordered at one time.

No orders accepted for less than one dollar.

Dahlia roots and plants will be sent prepaid by express or insured parcel post, according to the size of order and distance to be carried.

All orders are shipped after May 1st unless otherwise ordered.

Remittances should be made by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter.

We guarantee all roots and plants to be healthy and true to name. Having no control over them after delivery, we do not guarantee them to live and thrive. Any unsatisfactory bulbs must be returned within ten days from date of shipment, as our responsibility ceases after that time.

If you are unacquainted with the different classes and varieties of dahlias, we would suggest that you leave the selection to us. Send us the amount of money you wish to invest, and in return we will send you a selection of dahlias which will surely please.

How to Grow Dahlias

Dahlias do well in most all soils, but do best in a sandy loam. Heavy soils can be considerably lightened by the addition of coal ashes.

Plant in an open, sunny location, away from trees and buildings.

The tubers should be planted from four to six inches deep and three feet apart each way.

Lay the tuber flat on its side, with an eye or sprout pointing upward. Never plant a tuber in an upright position.

Dahlias may be planted with comparative safety up to July 1st, but best results are obtained when planted between the 1st and 15th of June.

If you find it necessary to stake your plants, the stake should be driven into the ground at the time the tubers are planted.

As soon as a plant has two or three pairs of leaves, pinch out the center of the plant, thereby inducing the growth of heavy side branches. The plant will not grow so tall, but will bear just as many flowers, and as a rule do away with the use of dahlia stakes.

Commence cultivating the plants as soon as they are through the ground and keep your soil in a mellow condition to the end of the season. Never allow a crust to form around your dahlias.

We do not approve of watering dahlias, but in a very dry season it may be necessary for you to do so. When you do water, do so thoroughly. After watering, the soil should be moist ten or twelve inches in depth.

Poor soil or soil inclined to bake may be improved by the addition of well-rotted manure, which should be spaded into the soil at least ten inches.

After the dahlias have started to bloom, well-rotted manure may be raked into the ground around each plant bi-weekly, with excellent results.

The size of the flowers may be increased by disbudding. Buds are usually borne in sets of three; the two side buds are removed, thus throwing the strength into the one remaining and giving a larger flower.

Young plants are at times attacked by aphid or midge, and the use of a tobacco spray will usually kill the pests.

If your plants are attacked by leaf-eating insects, a spray of arsenate of lead may be used with good results.

Flowers should be cut in the morning with the dew on them, and immediately plunged into hot water for a few seconds. The flowers if then placed in cold water and kept in a cool place will last for a week or more.

As soon as the plants are killed by frost in the Fall, they should be dug up, and after being left in the open for a few hours to dry, packed in sawdust or sand. Dahlias keep best in a cool place where the temperature is about 45 degrees.

Divide in the Spring after the eyes begin to show.

OUR 1922 INTRODUCTIONS

- *W. FREELAND KENDRICK (D) One of the most admired dahlias in my dahlia fields. This is a seedling of the popular King of the Autumn and has all of the desirable points of its parent but is far ahead of that splendid flower. The color is an exquisite shade of golden orange. The plant is an exceptionally vigorous grower and profuse bloomer. Immense flowers on long, strong stems. A decided acquisition... 5.00
- *MRS. H. C. BROSE (HC) The flowers are large and decidedly pleasing in effect. The color is white suffused lavender with a distinct lavender edge, making each petal stand out. Considered by many to be the best dahlia in my collection. Vigorous grower and strong bloomer..... 5.00
